

As extreme weather events and rising sea levels destroy lives and livelihoods, those who caused the climate crisis get richer.

Those who contributed least to the climate crisis are now paying the price.

Our message is simple: if you pollute,
you pay for loss and damage.

Quakers welcome people of all faiths and none.
Let's work together for loss and damage funding.

Loss and damage caused by climate breakdown is an immediate reality for people around the world, and it is getting worse every year. Extreme weather, rising sea levels and desertification are destroying lives, livelihoods and biodiversity.

Whether you consider it solidarity, compensation or reparations, we know that hundreds of billions a year are needed – and that money must come from those who caused the crisis. But progress on this has been slow.

Quakers in Britain works with faith groups and NGOs as part of the Make Polluters Pay campaign to call for a loss and damage fund paid for by the biggest polluters.

We do this by:

- joining the annual Make Polluters Pay Action Day
- pressing governments on the need for loss and damage funding
- supporting people of faith to join the campaign and take action or raise awareness
- sharing information about the campaign.
